St. Mary's Church
To Give Box Supper
Party Saturday Eve

The September parish party for St. Mary's Catholic church at Mokena will be given Saturday evening, Sept. 26, starting at 8 o'clock, in the church hall. The affair will be an old fashioned box supper followed by square dancing. The box supper will be packed by the ladies and will be auctioned by Charles Erickson, local auctioneer to the gentlemen. This should lead to very lively bidding.

For the square dance a good caller has been secured, and good music will be provided. This party is for all parish members and their friends, who are all cordially invited.

Members of the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Marcoux and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henneberry of Frankfort.

BLUE ISLAND
TO CELEBRATE
RAILROAD DAYS

Blue Island celebrates its first annual Railroad Days, October 2 and 3, and Mayor John M. Hart has proclaimed the occasion as one when every Blue Islander should wear railroad duds.

"This ought not to be difficult as many of our citizens are railroad employees or have someone in their families who are," the mayor observes.

The affair is under the sponsorship of the Blue Island Chamber of Commerce and the purpose, according to Lloyd C. Holmlin executive secretary of that organization, is to call attention to the fact that Blue Island is indeed a railroad town and proud of it.

"Votes" for Queen are being registered by the use of coupons attached to Blue Island Bucks. The "Bucks" are being given away by more than 50 Blue Island merchants for each purchase in their stores during September, a buck for each dollar spent.

Holmlin urges the holders of the bucks to keep them as they have value on Railroad Days.

The Queen contestants will have a special place in the parade to be held Saturday, October 3 when entrants will be judged on transportation theme, will compete for 3 cash prizes.

A telephone contest and mystery man will also appear in the shopping section during the two day event.

The New Lenox Lions will entertain at Ladies' Night Saturday, Sept. 26. The Lions and their wives will be served a dinner at the Lions Den by the members of the Women's Guild of Grace Episcopal church. After the dinner, the Dramatic club will entertain with a skit.

RECIPES FROM LOCAL PEOPLE TO BE PRINTED

From time to time this newspaper has received requests and suggestions to the effect that we establish a department for the publication of recipes submitted by people in this territory. The adoption of this idea has been under consideration for some time, and we have now reached the point where we are ready to go ahead with it.

Therefore, announcement is here made that we will be glad to receive favorite recipes from people in this area. The name of the person submitting the recipe must accompany it, with the understanding that the name will be published with the recipe.

One or two recipes from local people will be published each week. Those that are not published cannot be returned.

We are quite anxious that women send in their favorite recipes right away, so there will be an accumulation of recipes from which to make a selection before this plan is put into operation.

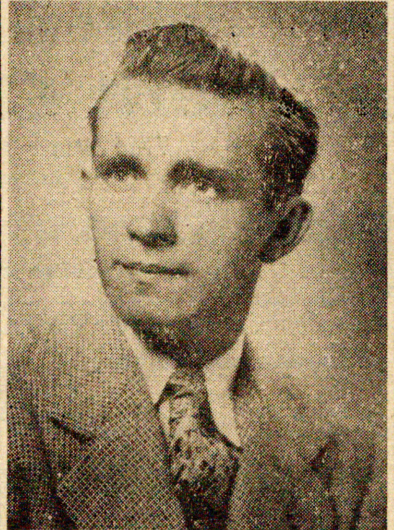

Men are not barred, of course, for, as a matter of fact, many men are excellent cooks, to say nothing of being professional cooks, and many fine recipes have been "cooked up" by them in off moments.

A "Filibuster" originally meant buccaneer or pirate.

A quorum in the U. S. Senate is two-thirds of all Senators. War was never formally declared against the Confederate States in 1961.

You Are Invited

Because so many people have said to us, "We would like to see your new press," we are, therefore, going to afford this opportunity to everyone who reads this invitation, or who hears of it, anywhere, to visit our plant at Mokena, at our "open house" celebration, to be held Saturday, October 10, starting at 9 a. m. and continuing all afternoon and evening, until 9 o'clock. We have chosen this date because it is National Newspaper Week, and we thought it fitting to hold "open house" at that time.

The publisher and staff will be very happy to greet everyone at this "open house," and conduct them through the plant, where they can see the new addition to the building, the Duplex press, the linotype machines, and the recently purchased automatic job press, "Little Giant," in operation.

We will have a gift for every one, and also a miniature newspaper telling the story of the growth of the News-Bulletin, the Tinley Park Times, and the Orland Park Herald, all of which are published in this plant every Thursday.

A fact of particular significance is, this modern equipment is housed in a plant part of which is 104 years old, but still as serviceable as the day it was built. It is a surprising combination of the old and the new that we believe will be of interest to all who come and visit us at this "open house" October 10.

PUBLISHER AND STAFF

Gets Electric
Jolt in Henhouse

Alfred Schelling of 175th and 94th ave., had a narrow escape Friday afternoon. He was working in the henhouse when because of some faulty wiring, he received a jolt of electricity. His wife immediately called for the Tinley Park inhalator, but he had regained consciousness before they arrived.

Windstorm Blows
Down Wall At Carl
Sandburg Hi School

During the heavy wind and rainstorm of Friday, Sept. 11, a brick wall at the new Carl Sandburg high school on Route 45 was blown down. The wall was about 15 feet high, and many feet long. It had not yet reached the height where the steel braces were to fit in, which would have prevented the collapse. This wall is covered by insurance.

The wind was of a very high velocity, and uprooted many trees in various sections of this locality. During this heavy wind and rainstorm a jet flyer was forced to bail out from 10,000 feet south of Peotone because he was unable to see. His jet plane crashed in that locality, and was a complete wreck.

The bride's mother wore a afternoon gown of rose chintilly over taffeta with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bride's two grandmothers, Mrs. Emma West and Mrs. Mary Jensen wore blue crepe gowns and corsages of white carnations.

years she has been there the office has grown more than 100 percent. When she took over the position there were only call boxes, no lock boxes. There are now 270 general deliveries, which include 212 boxes, and 360 are served on the rural route, making a total of 630 being served by this post office.

She attended the Frankfort school, and in 1907 she and her sister, Margaret Koerner established a confectionery store and ice cream parlor. They remained in this business until 1934, when she became postmaster and her sister has continued with her in the postal business.

When asked what she expected to do when relieved of her responsibilities she said she did not know, but it is presumed she will enjoy just keeping house for herself and husband. There are no children.

NEW LENOX PRISONER OF WAR
FETED IN HOME TOWN SUNDAY

Celebration Starts With Big Parade
Soldier Given Keys to City, and Purse

Above shows Mayor Howard Ayers presenting the key to New Lenox to Pfc. Wayne Erickson. Between them is Mrs. Wayne Erickson and his mother, Mrs. Ethel Erickson in the rear.

The residents of New Lenox and nearby communities turned out in full force last Sunday to welcome home one of their citizens, Pfc. Wayne Erickson. The day was ideal, and everyone seemed joyful at the return of this soldier, who had been a prisoner of war in Korea since July 14. He is home on a flyer's pass and will report to Great Lakes Naval hospital September 25, when he will be given his convalescent pass.

At the time Erickson was captured he was one of a group of four. They were taken prisoners by the Chinese Reds. Erickson was placed in a group of about 50 other prisoners, who were moved from place to place during this time his diet consisted mostly of rice.

The welcome home celebration started from the Haven school with a fine parade, which was escorted by a motorcycle policeman from the Joliet police department. The parade continued to Lincoln highway, where all traffic was stopped by state patrolmen.

Heading the parade was a gold star father, of New Lenox, Silas Peterson, whose son was killed while in training at Great Lakes. Mr. Peterson carried the American flag.

The VFW color guard followed him, and riding in the car were the mayor, Howard Ayres, Wayne, his wife and mother and in the car was Rev. Wm. J. Boldt, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church of Joliet, who had married this young couple before Pfc. Erickson entered the service.

Behind them was a car carrying a group of Gold Star mothers from New Lenox. Also in the parade were the Red Cross motor car, the New Lenox fire truck, the News-Bulletin car, the New Lenox grade school band and its four color guards, two baton twirlers, and two girls riding Palominos, the Warning White wagon and team of horses from the Warning Horse Shoe business, and color guards from the Cantigny and Stone City post of VFW in Joliet, and Girl and Boy Scout troops.

In charge of traffic were Chief Al Ziegler and Officer John Macklin of New Lenox. The parade terminated at the Lions Den, where, on the porch entrance, a brief ceremony took place, with Mrs. Butzen as master of ceremonies. She presented Rev. Bolt, who offered a prayer of Thanksgiving that he who was lost had been returned to his family and community. He also prayed for those who would not return and for those still in the hands of the enemy, that they may soon be restored to their families and to the land of freedom.

At the close of the prayer Mayor Ayres welcomed back this young local veteran and said: "We want to express our appreciation for what you have done for us, since we have no way of paying you for the services rendered." He presented a gold key to Pfc. Erickson, saying "This is a small token to show our appreciation, and we cannot begin to express our happiness in having you back with us. Here is the key to our city and to our hearts. May you keep it as a memento of our appreciation for what you have done for us."

Tips on Touring
By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

When winter approaches, most women's fancies turn automatically to thoughts of a whole new change of wardrobe. But they should also stop and remember that their car and its chassis deserve a change of food and attire, too.

The oil, tires, radiator and windshield which stood you in good stead through the summer months, may need to be "winterized."

Just like your wardrobe. According to Shell's automotive experts, your car suffers more from wintertime driving than it does during the balmy days of summer.

For instance, snow is more destructive to a car kept out-of-doors than rain could possibly be. Snow splatters up underneath your car and rusts and corrodes parts more than rain. Therefore, it needs more frequent washings in winter than it does in summer. As for your tires, remember that it isn't necessary to put more air in them, but thin, smooth treads are treacherous on rain and ice. So the tires that got you through the summer may not be safe for winter driving. You can drain your radiator regularly each night when freezing weather comes, but you'll find it safer and more convenient to put in an adequate supply of antifreeze. Also, your oil needs more frequent changing in winter. To keep your windshield from steaming up on cold days, partly open your small ventilating windows in front to provide a stream of cool air.

"Winterize" your car as you do your wardrobe, and you'll give it a new lease on winter driving.

TOO YOUNG TO DIE!

When epidemic strikes and takes its sudden and deadly count of the young, it tears at our heartstrings for there is so little we can do about it. Such tragedies may occur once in a year or two. But the highway toll of young innocents produces a casualty list every day, year after year. There is much we can do about it, for we are responsible.

In one year 4,300 young lives are snuffed out, over 200,000 injured and maimed for life. Three out of every four of these lives sacrificed to carelessness are from 5 to 14 years of age. Too young to die!

School safety patrols are holding down the casualties of children going to or coming from school. Two out of three are killed while outside of school supervision. That's the big reason why it's up to you, Mr. and Mrs. Driver, to protect little children. Be alert for the unpredictable actions of youngsters at play, crossing streets, chasing balls and riding bikes.

Little ones are thoughtless of danger; perhaps, too, they trust grown folks to guard them. Don't be the one to carry on your conscience the life of a child. Slow down, be alert where children may be at your mercy.

This compact farmhouse is designed especially for young families with limited incomes. Farm Advisor, Carl F. Mees, points out that this plan includes the features most commonly wanted in their homes by farm families.

These features include a work room, bedroom and bath on the first floor, eating space in the kitchen, lots of storage space in the right places and a wash-up place near the back door.

You can save even more of the initial cost of this house by leaving the second floor unfinished.

Build Hen-House Litter on Warm Days

Start building the litter in your hen house so that it will be ready when you move your flock inside.

Sam F. Ridlen, extension poultry specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says that built up litter needs warm weather and plenty of time to break up properly before cold, damp weather sets in.

First step in the building process is to clean and disinfect your laying house thoroughly. Then put 3 or 5 inches of litter material on the floor at the start. Stir this litter often and keep it dry, Ridlen suggests. Add new litter once a week or so until the layer over the floor is from 8 to 12 inches deep. Litter needs to be stirred up and kept dry all winter to cut down the danger from respiratory troubles in your flock as well as to prevent dirty eggs.

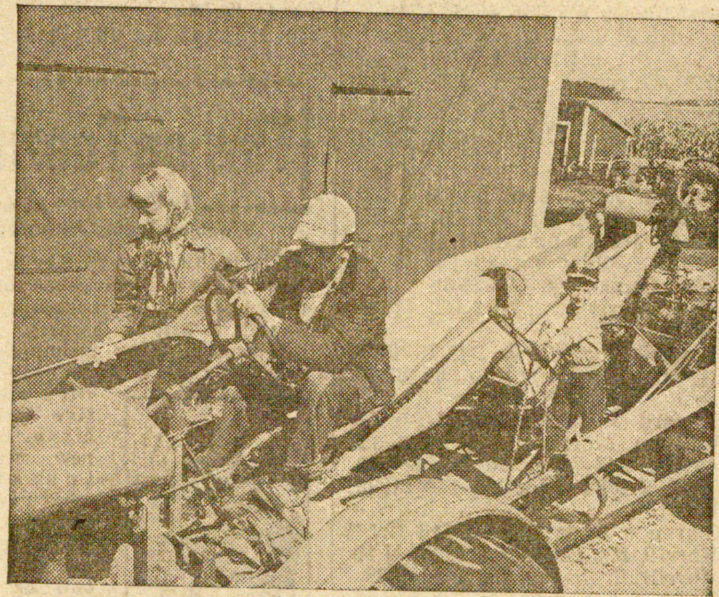

Crushed corn cobs or wood shavings make excellent built-up litter. Materials that pack too tightly are not good because it is hard to keep them dry.

Manufacturer Lists Safety Rules For Operation of 1 and 2-Row Corn Pickers

HEADING FOR THE FIELDS... AND TROUBLE—Flopping jackets, loose-rolled cuffs, dangling scarf ends and shirt tails, all invite accidents around moving machinery. Accenting the danger in this tableau are such safety flaws as extra riders, shield removed from the power take-off shaft, and that unnecessary shotgun.

A modern corn picker can whisk a 10-foot stick through its snapping rolls in one second, or a hand before its owner can gasp.

Its husking rolls can snatch an object thinner than cigarette paper, or just as efficiently grab fingernails and hair.

There are more than 580,000 corn pickers on the nation's farms. They will cause more maiming accidents this year than any other farm implement.

Husking rolls, snapping rolls, gathering chains, power takeoff shafts, wagon elevators, no other farm machine combines so many potentially dangerous moving parts.

Surprisingly, these grim reminders were issued today by the country's leading manufacturer of one and two-row corn pickers. They came from the New Idea Division, Avco Manufacturing Corporation, on the 25th anniversary of its introduction of the world's first successful two-row mechanical picker and husker.

Product Manager Harvey Schulze said:

"Production figures tell the story of what the corn picker means to the American farmer. One thousand bushels of corn can be picked mechanically today in the time it would have taken to hand-harvest 100 bushels in 1910.

"But for a double reason, economy and safety, we must impress on farmers the necessity of using pickers in the way they were designed to be used.

"We install all the safety shields and devices needed to make corn picking a safe operation," Mr. Schulze continued, "but it's wasted effort if the farmer decides to gamble his hand or arm against a few minutes of saved time.

The New Idea official cited the following safety rules:

1. Never reach into a picker when it is running. Shut off the power before oiling, adjusting or clogging. Make it a habit to shut off the power every time you leave the tractor seat.

2. Keep safety shields in place. Never operate without them.

3. Wear close-fitting clothing. Extra-thumb gloves, originally used for hand picking, give a false sense of security and, because of the projecting thumb, are especially dangerous.

4. Never carry a gun on a tractor or picker. Hunting and corn picking don't mix.

5. Prohibit extra riders.

6. Use a red flag, carried high, to warn motorists of the slow-moving vehicle if you travel on a highway. At night use lights, red at the rear and white at the front.

PRECISION CAKE BAKER

Knowing how to make precision parts for automatic washing machines may not be absolutely necessary in order to bake a chocolate cake but it helps according to Ernest Moreland, a foreman in the largest washing machine factory in the world. The difference is that he only bakes as a hobby.

Moreland uses practically the same efficient assembly-line methods for gathering cake ingredients as he does for turning out the vital and precise mechanism of a Whirlpool washing machine. The final results in each case are a proud example of craftsmanship.

In the nearly 30 years that Mr. Moreland has been associated with washing machine manufacture he has learned the secret of precision in quality production. In his own kitchen he follows the same methods.

A chocolate cake starts at one end with an empty bowl. As it moves along the kitchen "assembly line" toward the oven, proper ingredients are added from neat wall bins and shelves. While the cake is baking the "sub-assembly" job of preparing the frosting goes on.

Here is one of Mr. Moreland's "secrets" on how to remove cake that sticks to hot tins: Apply a cloth soaked in cold water to bottom of hot pan. The cold causes pan to contract and loosen cake without breaking.

PRECISION CHOCOLATE CAKE

Preheat oven to 350°.
1½ cups sugar; ¾ cup shortening; 3 eggs unbeaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla — mix for 3 minutes.
2 cups sifted cake flour—if other flour is used, add 2 tablespoons more milk; 2¼ teaspoons baking powder, double acting, or 4 teaspoons of quick acting; 1 teaspoon salt; ¾ cup milk.
Add dry ingredients and milk to above mixture and beat for 6 minutes.
Heat 3 squares chocolate, unsweetened, over hot water—add to batter and beat for 2 minutes.
Bake in two, 9-inch cake pans for 30 to 35 minutes.

Oil Makes Electricity

Electric utility power plants used more oil in 1953 than ever before to operate their generators. Their consumption totaled 75,287,618 barrels, an increase of 13.6 per cent over the previous year. In the same year, gas use by electric power plants was also up 14.2 per cent.

Consider Dismissal Of 'Mosquito Suit'

(CNS) Circuit court Judge Robert J. Dunne Tuesday took under advisement a motion by the South Cook County Mosquito Abatement District to dismiss a suit brought against it by 11 taxpayers. Judge Dunne indicated that he would hand down a decision on the motion to dismiss next week.

Oral arguments on the petition to dismiss were held Tuesday before Judge Dunne by John F. Tyrrell, attorney for the taxpayers who brought the suit and Jacob Shamberg, attorney for the mosquito district. Shamberg told the court that it does not have jurisdiction in the taxpayers suit since state statutes do not provide for a recount of votes in a case where a mosquito abatement district is formed.

Shamberg cited a case of a park district in Evanston in which a County court judge approved the election. A Circuit court judge ruled that the ballots should be counted and the State Supreme court later reversed the Circuit court judge's decision.

Tyrrell said the state Supreme court has held that anyone has the right to contest elections. He said that the suit brought by his clients merely asked for a recount of the ballots cast in the election and was not attacking the validity of the mosquito district.

At the November 4, 1952 election, persons in Cook county living south of 87th st. voted on a proposition to form a South Cook County Mosquito Abatement District. Last March, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki signed an order approving the formation of the district with a final vote count of 140,976 votes in favor and 86,383 against. The suit asking for a recount of votes and asking that the formation of the district be declared null and void was filed in April by Clarence J. Bell, 138 E. 155th st., Harvey, and 10 other taxpayers.

One for the Books!

Noticed the Missus had a red ribbon tied around her finger at breakfast one morning last week. "What's that for?" I asked. "Your memory slipping?"

"It's not for me," she answers, "it's to remind you, and everybody else who asks what it's for, to contribute to the Woman's Club Library Fund. We need $200 and we figured we'd get more help if we could get people to ask us about it."

Well, as it turned out, the red ribbon worked just fine. The ladies are having the library all fixed up—and there's enough money for some new books, too.

From where I sit, it would be a fine thing if we had some sort of private reminder when we forget the rights of our neighbors. Like when we start telling them what we think is best. I may like a travel book and a temperate glass of beer while you prefer a cup of tea with your historical novel. Let's both remember not to "put the finger" on the other!

BETTENHAUSEN TO RACE SAT.

Tony Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, the well known national auto racer, has been away of racing activities for the past few weeks. He had planned to enter the Indianapolis championship auto race at Indiana State Grounds, Saturday, Sept. 19, but the race was postponed, and will be run this Saturday, Sept. 26. It is a 100 mile championship auto race for Indianapolis-style racing cars. The track is one mile long.

Tony will be entered in this race, and will drive car No. 99 which is owned by Murrill Belanger, of Crown Point, Ind. This is the car in which Tony won the national championship in 1951, winning 8 out of 11 starts. Tony also won the 100 mile auto race at Syracuse, N. Y. Sept. 12.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Seasoned motorists know that travel time isn't over with the end of summer. They have discovered, through experience, that the coming of fall opens up a whole new country for them to re-discover in their automobiles.

This is particularly true for the amateur artist,

the Sunday shut-terbug and the plain, garden-

variety of nature lover. The riot of colors evident from your car window provides a palette

of unusual tints which test the ingenuity of the professional oil painter or the color photographer.

If you are a "some-time" painter, why don't you try pursuing your hobby on your next fall trip?

Take along your easel and palette

when you do your autumnal motoring.

See if you can capture on your canvas the bright, gay colors that Mother Nature has painted on the landscape. If you're a camera bug, arm yourself with a good camera and a few rolls of color film when you take to the road. The vivid yellow birches, the flaming red maples and the deep brown oak trees will take on added lustre when you see them again in your color prints.

Smaller, but no less colorful, objects, such as a sheaf of golden wild wheat, a brown cat-tail or a spray of silvery pampas grass, also lend themselves ideally to photography painting.

Capture your autumn car trips on canvas or film, and you can remember nature's most colorful season all year round.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It's been a long time since

Washington has been so intrigued with an official as it currently is with Edward Howrey, new Federal Trade Commission chairman.

Some claim he is a modern

Nero, fiddling while economy burns.

Others claim

he is a modern them of the policeman at the time of an armed bank robbery who asked, "Which way did the gunman go?"

He was told, "C. W. Harder.

They had headed north. "In that case," he replied, "I will rush south and head them off."

But regardless of opinions, he has set up another committee, college professor headed, as

"Committee on Cost Justification." This group is to find out distribution costs.

For years FTC has maintained an economic section headed by eminent cost accounting authorities. FTC cost accounting studies are among the finest work the Government has produced.

But their work often comes to naught because no action is taken to stop abuses found.

Here is an analogy. Does a fire department, on receiving a report of a fire, send trucks to fight it, or does it hire more people to study the neighborhood to report that there is indeed a mighty blaze going?

Many see a planned stall.

Several months ago, the FTC made one of its most important rulings in history, setting up a carload as the maximum quantity purchase required of any dealer to enjoy the fullest discount given by the manufacturer.

However, the ruling has never been enforced.

While the order applied to tires, it could also be applied to many other commodities such as printing papers and fabrics.

Howrey opposed FTC ruling

as legal counsel for one of Big

Tire Four and one most active in operating company stores.

In his announcement on the matter, obscure intentions appear. He hopes his new committee will be able to devise a system by which, he says, "business firms could keep their costs in a form which would enable them

most readily to prepare the data required to show price differences reflect no more than "due allowances" for cost differences."

Many interpret this passage to mean "we would like to figure out some way that monopoly manufacturers can justify soaking independent buyers, while selling to company owned stores, and favored outlets at prices which merely return a fair profit."

Obviously, monopoly minded firms using pricing structures to evade anti-trust laws, with their own legal staffs and facilities taking advantage of every loophole, need little, if any, help from a government agency.

But if the FTC can be influenced to modify its rulings to favor these practices, a hard blow can be dealt independent business.

Howrey's appointment was confirmed with much misgivings by Congress to begin with.

And economy minded Congressmen are going to be hard to convince that the government needs more committees duplicating work already being done.

done for us." Following this Carl Meitner, commander of the Harry Anderson Post, VFW, o New Lenox, presented Pfc. Erickson an American flag and a New Lenox grade school band flag, which Erickson in turn presented to W. H. Reed, the local land director, as a gift from the VFW post and auxiliary to the band.

This ended the short welcome program and Mrs. Butzer then extended an invitation to everyone to join Pfc. Erickson his mother Ethel, and wife Nancy in the basement of the hall, to greet the honored group where refreshments were served, consisting of hot dogs, pop and a large beautifully decorated cake with a welcoming message.

Later dancing was enjoyed to the music of a hill billy band Pfc. Erickson was presented with a purse from Mrs. Butzer. The townspeople, business people and those present at the celebration contributed $160 to wards this purse, and after the small expenses were deducted Erickson was presented with the balance.

HOMER CHURCH

Arthur E. Talbert, pastor Walter Boyce, Superintendent Sunday school begins promptly at 9:45 a.m. Worship service 10:45 a.m.

Corn is not "hard" on the soil, according to a University of Illinois agronomist, if our practices include replacing nutrients and rebuilding organic matter.

Scripture: Philemon.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:1-3, 10-11.

Higher Brotherhood

Lesson for Sept. 27, 1953

ONE small note, from one Christian gentleman to another, was saved and a copy of it included in the collection of letters and stories that became our New Testament. The writer, gentleman though he was, wrote from a jail in the capital city; the addressee had never seen the writer, though he must have heard of him. The letter was not mailed, but carried by hand, by a slave named Onesimus, which means "Useful" or "Valuable." It did not seem the right name for this slave, because he had run away from his master and thought he could hide in the great city. Some- Dr. Foreman how or other he got into jail, and had met a more famous prisoner Paul. Through Paul's influence (he never thought any one beneath his notice) this Onesimus had become a Christian, and Paul had persuaded him to go back where he belonged, taking with him master Philemon the little note that bears his name.

How Reform Comes

This little letter, showing Paul at his charming best, suggests thought along three lines. One is the way Christianity comes to transform society. Christian religion, given its freedom, will do more than transform individuals; it will change society. When Paul wrote this letter, slavery was taken for granted everywhere. Some of Paul's best friends were slave owners as Philemon was. Paul had no intention of encouraging Onesimus to stay in Rome. Indeed it would seem he had challenged the slave to prove that his conversion was genuine, by going back and giving himself up. That was (say) around 62 A. D. Nowadays in our America slavery is a thing of the past, so far as law and enlightened public opinion are concerned. Christians north and south are glad it is gone. Philemon, or rather the ideas in the letter to Philemon, sowed the seed that resulted in the vanishing of slavery. There we learn that all Christians are brothers; that even a slave (this would have been news to many Romans and Greeks) was a human soul with human responsibilities and rights. Not even a slave is or can be a thing. Once that idea took hold of people, slavery was done for. It can flourish today only in lands like Russia where Christian religion has been crushed.

Christ and the Individual

Though Christ converts society more slowly than individuals, he converts society through converted individuals. The letter to Philemon shows what happens to one man, now, when Christ takes hold of him. Before his conversion, Onesimus had been a thief, a fugitive from duty. Afterwards, he was willing to go back, make good his theft, and take what was coming to him. Paul pleads that he may be taken back no longer just as a slave, but as a brother-Christian; but Onesimus did not know, of course, whether Philemon would take this advice. But he was willing to take his chance. A pagan owner and a pagan slave made a bad combination. A Christian owner and a pagan slave, or the other way around, would not be a good combination. But when they were both brother-Christians the whole relationship would be different. Once Christianize master and slave, and the end of slavery was in sight.

What Christian Brotherhood Is

People talk of the brotherhood of man; but the brotherhood of Christians is a higher brotherhood, indeed the highest possible. Christians recognize in one another not simply that they are all human, which is true enough, but that they are all Christ's brothers, they accept God for their Father—which goes much deeper than singing about him. Accepting the brotherhood of man, one can look at any man anywhere and think: He too is a man as I am; we belong to one race. But accepting the brotherhood of Christ, one can look at any Christian anywhere and think: He too is a man for whom Christ died as he died for me; we belong to one family. How deeply this enters into the heart, only Christians who have begun to realize this kind of brotherhood can know.

1952 Worst Pork Year Since 1932

Hogs are more profitable this year, but in 1952 they paid the lowest returns in 20 years.

Yet, according to 612 records kept in the Farm Bureau Farm Management Service, efficient farmers still made money last year. The 113 least efficient herds actually returned only 92 cents for every dollar spent for feed. While the 110 most efficient returned $1.37. The average herd returned $1.16.

Farm accounts showed differences between most profitable and least profitable herds: pigs weaned per litter, 6.8 compared with 6.1; litters per farm, 38 and 28; pigs lost after weaning, 9 and 16; and pigs sold per farm, 250 and 156.

Least efficient farmers suffered more than double the death loss of the efficient farms. They lost 3.3 percent of their pigs compared with 1.4 percent, and they sold an average of one fewer pig per sow.

It cost 17.5 cents for the less efficient farmers to produce a pound of pork. The most efficient ones did it for 12.7 cents a pound.

Safe to Seal High Quality Corn Now

"Invitations are being extended to ministers and the organizational personnel of churches of all denominations to see and hear—without cost to them—the many new features which have been added to the second annual International Churchmans Exposition, scheduled for the Chicago Coliseum October 6-9, 1953," says Marcus W. Hinson, president and exposition manager.

One of these new features—the International Church Music Seminar—will be a workshop type of program interspersed with the feature of "Singing Through New Church Anthems." It will present many nationally known authorities, such as Dr. Olaf Christiansen, head of choral music at the University of Minnesota.

The International Church Buildings Forum will be highlighted by a panel discussion on "Contemporary Vs. Traditional in Church Architecture" with H. A. Brand, moderator. Four well known church architects will participate: Albert F. Heino, F. J. Dittrich, Ralph Stoetzel and C. W. Marshall. "This subject will be of great interest to building committees because this is the first important decision many of them will have to make," says Mr. Hinson.

The Hall of Church Designs will again feature over one hundred panels, or murals, exhibited by the nation's leading architects, showing floor plans etc. of America's newest churches. Models of churches will be a new architectural feature this year, supplementing the panels.

The Hall of Food Service Designs is another feature this year, with a special talk on "Planning Food Service Facilities" by Charles J. Betts, advisory architect to the Disciples of Christ. Food service in church fellowship halls is of great interest, as the fact is pretty well established that more meals are served from church kitchens than from all the hotel kitchens in America.

Requests for additional information can be secured by writing to the International Churchmans Exposition, 19 So. LaSalle St., Chicago 3, Ill.

To Hold Churchman Exposition Oct. 6-9

September 1 was the first date that the state tree nurseries accepted orders for trees.

J. N. Spaeth, head of the forestry department at the University of Illinois, suggests that you plan your heads for trees now so that you can get your order in soon.

First orders received are filling fast. Spaeth says. In previous years the state nurseries have not been able to supply the demand for certain species of trees, especially some varieties of evergreens.

To estimate the number of trees you will need, figure 1,200 conifers to an acre with a spacing of 6x6 feet, or 680 hardwoods to an acre with an 8x8 foot spacing.

You can use tree stocks supplied by the state nurseries for plantations to grow tree crops, to control erosion, for shelter belts and to provide food and cover for wildlife. They may not be used for farmstead windbreaks.

After September 1 you will be able to get the latest price lists and order forms from your county farm adviser.

Order State Nursery Trees Now

There's still time for farmers to reseed corn under government loan. If last year's crop was in good condition, it will probably be safe to reseed and store for another year.

But a University of Illinois agricultural engineer points out that, if the corn is to be shelled out and stored as shelled corn, farmers should check the moisture content to see whether it's low enough for safe storage.

If moisture is above 12 percent, artificial drying should be used to reduce it. A batch drier probably offers the best and easiest means of getting the job done.

J. T. Clayton says that shelled corn has been successfully stored for four years where:

1. All the corn had a moisture content of 12 percent or less when stored.
2. The corn was kept relatively free from insects.
3. The bin was effective in keeping out moisture.

The seventh biennial Chicago-Lutheran Hour rally will be held Sunday afternoon, September 21, at 3 o'clock, in the Chicago Stadium, 1800 West Madison street, Chicago.

The event will inaugurate the 21st consecutive season of broadcasting for the International Lutheran Hour, the world's most extensive religious broadcast. The Rev. Lawrence Acker, guest speaker, will be presented to an audience of 25,000.

Highlight of the one and one-half hour program will be the premiere of a majestic and colorful pageant "The Everlasting Gospel" depicting the phenomenal success of this radio crusade against sin.

Fast moving scenes on alternate halves of a 54-foot stage will chronicle the progress of radio program. For a stage setting two huge 66-foot radio towers, utilizing neon lighting, will zigzag the Gospel message through space . . . to signify today's modern missionary miracle.

This elaborate pageant will close in a climatic crescendo in which all members of the cast will reappear in a giant tableau "Victory Through Christ" accompanied by the singing Fourth Movement of Mendelssohn's Reformation Symphony.

This thrilling demonstration of Christianity will be an unforgettable spiritual experience which the public is invited to share. There will be 20,000 free seats.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

Now that school days are here again, try adding a fourth "R" to your child's conventional curriculum of reading, 'ritin' and 'rithmetick. The fourth "R" I speak of is "riding" in your family car.

Riding will not only relieve your child from the tedium of his classroom but afford him a painless route to learning. Since five days of his week are spent in the schoolroom, stimulate his enthusiasm for his studies through special week-end trips.

Plan these week-ends to tie-in with his curriculum by learning from him or his teacher his current subject matter. Then, sit down with him, and the rest of the family, and study a road map of your own area. Concentrate upon a 200 mile radius around your home town, picking out the local sites and events which your child will find interesting and useful in his studies. You'll note museums, exhibitions, factories, state festivals, scenic sites, farms and special events—all of which will open up a whole new world of wonders for your curious child.

Take a week-end trip to include such spots, and your youngster will gain a better-than-textbook view of the geography, nature, history and industry which he studies in school.
